Plans Drawn For New College

SCHOOL OFFICIALS PLAN GIANT FOOTBALL RALLY FOR FULLERTON GRID GAME

Santa Ana Collegians And Yellowjackets, Old Time Rivals To Be Entertained By Dancing And Card Games In Andrew's Gymnasium After Big Football Game

Planning to arouse enthusiasm for the Thanksgiving day football game played between Santa Ana and Fullerton, yell leaders are making arrangements for a rally to be held in the gymnasium Wednesday evening, November 27.

The combat with the Fullerton squad is the last one of the season and will make or break Santa Ana. Last year the neighboring team defeated the Dons so an attempt is being made to arouse as much pep here as possible.

Yells and songs will be practiced to be in readiness for the morning's game. Some new songs have been composed especially for the crucial battle.

Speeches will be heard from Captain Herald Hylton and Coach Bill Cook. All members of the football squad are to be present.

Following the rally there is to be an informal pep dance in the gym. The orchestra is to be a surprise and it is said to be a snappy one. All Jaycee students are urged to attend the rally dance.

Dave Hill, John Wykes and Les McDonald, Don cheer leaders, are in charge of the affair.

Fullerton Dance Plans Completed

Scores of college students from Fullerton will trek to Santa Ana the evening of November 28 when Fullerton junior college students attend the annual football dance to be given in Andrew's gymnasium on the Santa Ana junior college campus.

Elaborate plans for the entertainment of the Fullerton guests have been arranged by Miss Clara Kate Owens, social commissioner of the local college. The dance will be entirely informal, it was learned from Miss Owens.

Florence Brownridge is working hard with the decoration committee to prepare the gymnasium in an unusual and artistic manner. Working with chairman Brownridge is favor chairman Ada Marie Hendrickson. A hard task faces the favor committee. It must not only create favors for the dancers, but must please the card players as well. When not in the mood for dancing the merry makers will find card tables arranged around the dance floor.

Miss Owens called upon the men of the student body to help her with the entertainment. Volunteers were Bill Crawford, Carl Planchon, Hal Dunham, Raymond Gleaser, Dale Fuller, Nevin Hoy, Lloyd Manderscheid and John Wykes.

All members of the Associated Student Body will be admitted free, while others will be charged fifty cents admission.

Junior Lions Party Set For December 6

Entertainment of the highest type has been worked out by the Junior Lions and Stewart McPherson, president, for Friday night, December 6, the night the Bachelors share a party with the Lions.

The place for the gala event is the popular and up to date Norcorian club, which is located five miles north of Corona.

The affair is scheduled to take place from 9 o'clock until midnight in the Casino of the club.

One of the features of the evening will be speedboat rides in Lake Norcoria for entertainment during the intermissions. The Lions chartered a special boat for the occasion.

Sir Harry Lauder Entertains Here

Courtesy of The Santa Ana Register

"Lauder and funnier" is a popular cry in club meetings and similar public meetings and will be exemplified in the Santa Ana high school auditorium Thursday night, November 21 by none other than Sir Harry Lauder, genial Scot who is alleged to be funnier than ever this year on his longest and most comprehensive American tour. Sir Harry will return to Santa Ana under the auspices of the Ebbl society's International Artist Series committee although his concert is not a number on the entertainment course already booked, but is an independent number.

SIR HARRY LAUDER IN RETURN ENGAGEMENT TO SANTA ANA THURSDAY EVE

Genial Scot, World Famous Entertainer And Singer. Will Appear In High School Auditorium Under Auspices Of Santa Ana Ebbl Society In Concert Series

Santa Ana music lovers will again be enabled to hear Sir Harry Lauder, world famous humorist and singer, when he makes his second appearance in four years in this city tomorrow night in the Santa Ana high school auditorium under the auspices of the Ebbl society.

Since his previous appearance in this city, Sir Harry has made a concert tour of the world, which took him into Australia and other countries of the southern hemisphere. Always he met with the same glowing reception that he had met in the United States as well as in his own British Isles and today his famous "crooked stick," his equally famous and equally crooked legs, his varying costumes in Tartan plaid and his characteristic songs are known the world over.

Arrangements for the concert were concluded recently by Miss Lula Minter, chairman of the International Artist Series committee of the Ebbl

BACHELOR PLEDGES HAVE HELL WEEK

George Butler, who is at the head of the final initiation of the Bachelor pledges, has refused to reveal all the plans for this week, which happens to be Bachelor's "hell week," and judging from former years, it is just that for the pledges.

All that he has let slip is that there will be a little performance on the part of future Bachelors, at the Sophomore-Freshman basketball game Friday night.

He also revealed that a cottage has been secured at Laguna Beach for Saturday night. It is here that the finishing touches will be put on the "baby bachelors."

Those receiving their final initiations are Crawford Nalle, Orville Schuchardt, Art Beddoes, Carl Planchon, Rod Chamberlain, Bill Crawford, Al Kluthe, Hal Dunham, Verle Van Syoc, Warren Schutz, and Jack Dutton.

O. K. Club Sponsors Assembly Program

According to a recent announcement made by Abbott Mason, an unusual and entertaining assembly program has been arranged this week by members of the O. K. club, who have entire charge of the assembly hour today.

Among the many specialty features is a reading, "The Finger of God," by "Rosey" Hartman, acted out by other members of the club. The cast includes the valet, Pete Woods; James Strietman, Carol Ber-tolet; and the Girl, Nancy Cox.

A one act play, the name of which has been kept secret, will be presented under the direction of Ernest Crozier Phillips, dramatic instructor of the Santa Ana junior college.

Other attractions of the program include a clever "black face" act, the principals of which have not yet been announced; and several popular numbers by the jazz orchestra under the direction of Louis Romoff, prominent Santa Ana junior college musician.

This program and the practices held in working it up, have been secret, and the entire hour promises to be filled with novel surprises and the cheerful atmosphere of the O. K. club, composed of students living away from home.

Longfellows Work On Program Plans

Just how the Santa Ana junior college Society of Longfellows is going to present next week's assembly is being kept secret but advance rumors circulating around the campus are creating much attention.

That the world's greatest men's fashion show of feminine fashions is the biggest feature, is known, but the manner of presenting the rare spectacle will not be released, it was learned from Ed Adams, program chairman. A meeting was to be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the A. S. B. office to discuss the assembly.

Contract Given Out For 1930 Year Book

Several of the contracts for this year's Algor work have been made, it was learned this week from Frank Mansur, business manager.

The Austin studios of Santa Ana are to do the photography work on the annual. This concern is a branch of a large Los Angeles corporation, and for many years have done successful school annual work. The engraving contract has been given this year for the first time to the Santa Ana Engraving company. The Zellerbach paper company have submitted a sample dummy, and are bidding for the paper contract.

Pictures of the Soph-Frosh flag-pole rush and the sophomore dance were taken for the Algor, aside from the many snapshots that are being made by individual students. Algor work is gradually beginning to appear in material form.

For the year 1927-28, the Algor motif was aquatic. Eleanor Turner was the editor of last year's successful collegiate issue, carried out in red and black.

The motif of this year's book is being kept secret, but it will probably be the most clever and original for some years past.

Formal action leading to the formation of a union junior college district embracing Tustin, Garden Grove, Orange, Huntington Beach, San Juan Capistrano, Anaheim, Newport harbor and Santa Ana high school districts looms in the near future as the result of sentiment expressed last Thursday night at an Associated Chambers of Commerce committee meeting at the local high school.

Agitation for the formation of a southern Orange county junior college district has been rife for some time but organized action was withheld until this year. The only opposition to the project came from outside districts desiring transportation and when this was granted, willingness to proceed was heartily given. The Santa Ana board of education will probably file a petition with the board of supervisors for the new college in the near future. The law provides that only contiguous territory may be included, in which case Anaheim, Capistrano and Newport harbor would be excluded, but as soon as the district is formed, these three districts would join and be eligible for participation in the giant plan.

At the present time, Anaheim is said to be fighting the move from Fullerton to include the former city in the northern district. Twenty per cent of all voters must sign a petition before Anaheim may be excluded from the Fullerton district, which all

Church Club Starts With Many Members

Meeting at the home of Miss Linda Paul, principal of the Lincoln grammar school, 2015 North Main street, Sunday morning, November 10 at 9 o'clock breakfast a few young men of the junior college put into motion the machinery which is to add a new, worth-while organization to the many which now exist on the campus.

The club consists mainly of young men who are not connected with any church in the junior college district but who are interested in receiving religious education. The meetings are to be an hour long—from 9:30 to 10:30 and will be in the nature of discussions.

Next week, will mark the actual beginning of the club, for at that time a name will be selected, officers elected and the other matters concerned with organization decided.

The club is to be exclusive. It is to have a membership of 24 college men and the advisor, Dean McKee Fisk. Those who are invited to join after the club is formed will have to be voted on by club members as is now being practiced by other organizations.

GLENDALE INVITES DONS TO GRID DANCE

Glendale junior college invites Santa Ana students to a football rally dance at the Glen Arden club in that city November 23, after the Santa Ana Glendale game, according to word received by president Bob Chapman this week.

All football players are to be admitted free of charge and others will be charged fifty cents for ladies and one dollar for gentlemen. The Hotel Alexandria orchestra will supply the music and a balloon dance, dancing contests, novelty favors and other features are on the program.

DON SPORTS

Dons Tackle Buccaneers Saturday

Santa Ana Is Slight Favorite To Defeat Powerful Glendale Eleven Saturday, Melvin Beatty Is Injured

Glendale, the last obstacle before the championship game with the Fullerton Yellowjackets on Thanksgiving day, will entertain the Santa Ana junior college Dons on their home field next Saturday afternoon.

The Buccaneers promise to offer plenty of opposition for the Dons so maybe it won't be just entertainment anyway. A few weeks ago, the strong Long Beach Vikings barely nosed out the "Bucs" with a 13-6 victory which shows that they are well capable of springing a surprise. The Vikings were beaten by the Dons last Saturday by a 22-0 score, but comparative scores mean nothing this year as football followers will agree.

To date, the "Bucs" boast of a .400 per cent average, having won two and lost three. The three games having been lost in the last minutes of play by very close scores.

In Covington and Eubanks, Glendale has a pair of backs which any coach would welcome to his team. Covington is a 135 pound quarterback, and kicks and passes as well as running all over the field. He is a former Santa Ana high school star, and is a brother of Ed Covington, former high school coach here.

Eubanks, husky fullback is also one of the mainstays of the "Buc" machine. It was this husky fellow who almost wrecked the Dons last year with his devastating line plunges which ripped the line to shreds at will.

Ryan, tackle and Jolly, halfback are other members of the Glendale eleven who will probably make themselves known before the sixty minutes struggle is over.

Last year the two elevens battled to a 0-0 standstill with the Buccaneers holding the upper hand for the majority of the time, although the game was marred by heavy penalties, the Dons being penalized some 150 or 175 yards after making huge gains.

The padres, although having played one of the toughest games of their schedule last Saturday, came out in excellent condition with the exception of Melvin Beatty, star halfback. Beatty wrecked his knee and will be out of next Saturday's lineup but he will be ready to go for the game with the Yellowjackets.

W. A. A. To Make Unique Scrapbook

Possibilities of the W. A. A. making a scrap book that would contain all news of women's athletics in Jaycee was discussed by the cabinet. It was decided that a scrapbook would be made which would contain a record of girls' athletics for the year. Helen Lee was put in charge of this book at the meeting last Thursday.

President Staples led a discussion on whether or not the W. A. A. cabinet girls should pay for their pictures in the Algor. It was decided that each girl would pay a small sum.

Vikings Beaten By Padres, 22-0

Down went the Vikings! To the tune of a 22-0 score, before the terrific onslaught of Coach Bill Cook's fighting Spaniards. The offensive combination of the Dons functioned throughout the game, while the line was a stonewall on defense. Captain Hylton proved beyond a doubt that his caliber for an all-conference berth is unquestionable, as he stopped the Viking offensive threats and kept his team fighting throughout the game. Never was the Santa Ana goal in danger, although the Long Beach crew managed to take the pigskin over by completing several passes during the closing minutes of play. But the ball was taken back when the head linesman called a penalty for offense.

Red Manderscheid proved to be the offensive star of the day, featuring a 52 yard run for a touchdown, although hit by several tacklers he finally eluded the safety man and ran unmolested over the goal line. Garlock and Dutton also made some nice runs, which figured largely in Santa Ana's first touchdown.

Quarterback Meyer and Captain Mobly played well for the Vikings.

Hill kicked off to Rimel to start the battle. Rimel returned the ball to his 30 yard line. After an exchange of punts Meyers was downed behind his own goal line thus giving the Dons two points via the safety route. Joe Warner took the next kickoff and was downed on his own 45 yard line. Rimel made a first down in two attempts putting the ball on the Long Beach 45 yard stripe. On the next play a pass from Garlock to Warner was intercepted by Hill on his own 35 yard line. The Vikings failed to gain on attempted passes and end runs. Garlock took Mobly's punt on the 47 yard line, and from there the Don offensive was never checked until Garlock and Dutton had carried the ball to the one yard line and on the second attempt Garlock went over for the first touchdown of the game. Dutton smashed through right guard for the extra point.

During the rest of the period neither team made any serious threats toward scoring, however Santa Ana was on a determined drive as the gun sounded, ending the first half with the score Santa Ana 9, Long Beach 0.

The second half opened with the locals showing their best exhibition of football seen this season. Kluthe kicked off to Hill who was downed on his 25 yard line, after three unsuccessful tries at the Santa Ana line the Vikings lost the ball on downs. Crawford punted out on the Long Beach 13 yard line.

Mobly fumbled on the first play, Crawford recovering for Santa Ana. Rimel and Dutton crashed the line for the remaining 12 yards, Rimel making the touchdown on a four yard plunge through right guard. Wallace

Stapleites Lose To Tustin 16-14

Last Wednesday Staple's team met the farmerettes of Tustin high school and after a hard battle, yielded to them—the score being 16 to 4.

The Tustin guards were very capable and completely covered the local forwards. Compton converted two free shots while Walton made a single basket. Many substitutions were made on the Jaycee team which probably accounted for a lack of team work.

Players who took part were Compton, Larrabee, Walton, forwards; Staples, McKinstry, McDonald, centers; Spicer, Smith, Kendal, Larrabee, guards.

On this same day Lee's team also met the Tustin girls, who completely overwhelmed the junior college freshmen with a score of 55 to 23.

The outside team outplayed the local freshmen in every way. The defense was very good at all points and the frosh were unable to break away. Walton, local forward, scored high.

The local players were Walton, Lee, forwards; Teel, Spicer, McKinstry, centers; Cox, Spicer, Smith, guards.

kicked goal for the extra point.

Manderscheid made the last touchdown by virtue of a 90 yard march to the goal line.

Long Beach lost the ball on downs Santa Ana taking it on their own 10 yard line. Manderscheid carried the ball to his own 48 yard line in three tries through the line, and on the next attempt ran through the entire Viking team for the last touchdown of the game. Warner's place kick was wide. Long Beach resorted to passing during the remainder of the quarter.

J. C. Hoop Squads Have 14-24 Battle

"Beefsteak" has evidently become a capital by word with Hurd's team of scrappy frosh—at any rate, this by word "inspired" the freshmen to secure a wide margin win over Staple's team of sophomores. Emerging clear from a three team tie, Hurd's team won the game last Friday piling up 24 markers to the sophomores 14.

Fast scrappy action was witnessed during the first half. The passing was rather ragged and did not show up well. The sophomore forwards were very effectively squelched by Whistler and Marshall, frosh guards, who played a keen game. Hurd, quick forward, was in very good form and found the basket in almost any angle of the court. Very good team work was shown between Samuelson and Hurd.

Although the sophomore jump had the advantage over the frosh center, to two swift side centers were very evenly matched, and the possession of the ball was favored by neither. Staples and McDonald turned in a very good game for the sophomores.

Harman's Melontossers Annihilate Hurd's Contenders By 32-17 Score; Harman, Woods Star For Winners

Yielding to the sheer good playing of Dodo Harman's team, Elsiebell Hurd's team of freshmen lost the championship match which was played off Monday afternoon. The deciding score of the game was 32 to 17 in favor of the sophomores.

The game was very speedy. During the first quarter it seemed as if the frosh were able to hold their own, but as the quarter advanced into the half the distance between the scores widened. Harman, sophomore forward, was the star of the game. She did excellent shooting, her passing was very good, and her footwork was keen. The freshman guards had to work very hard in order to secure and keep the ball.

On the whole, good team work was not evidenced. Long passes from one court to another took place. Fumbling was very noticeable, especially on the frosh team. Hendricks, tiny frosh side center, took a prominent part in the game. Her offense and defense work was good.

Lineup:
Harman (17) (32) Harman

German Club Has Dinner Meeting

Pre-eminent among the social affairs given at the college was the dinner-meeting given by the German society in the cafeteria at 3 p. m., last Friday afternoon.

Members of the club began the program by singing German songs. Herr Warren and Herr Buescher entertained the gathering in an interesting manner, depicting two German characters carrying on a casual conversation in their native tongue.

Miss Ruth Gardner gave a biographical sketch of Hans Sachs, a famed poet and master singer, who wrote about 6,300 poems, songs, verse and dramas.

John Keeler gave an interesting account of Frederick Schiller, poet and dramatist, who wrote "The Robbers" at the age of seventeen. Schiller wrote "Don Carlos" in 1789; "Maria Stuart" 1799 and "William Tell" in 1803. Schiller lived in the seventeenth century.

Miss Adele Wilson gave a vivid description of Goethe, Germany's greatest playwright since Goethe. In 1912, Hauptmann won the Nobel prize.

Edwin Kilbourne also gave an excellent account of the German physicist, Guericke.

Julius Kusel presented as a feature, a number of interesting charades.

The program was followed by a dinner which was of German style, the menu including punch and pretzels.

Cervantes Club To Hold Fiesta Tonight

To create a Spanish atmosphere is the aim of the Cervantes club party tonight when members will dine at Ketner's cafe.

The entire program is to be carried on in Spanish so that members may become more familiar with the language.

A discussion of topics considered vital to school life will be carried on in couples. "Resolved that students should study Spanish" will be the subject of a debate which will be given.

Floy Francis is to sing a solo and it is planned that some member of the club give a reading. With the delicious menu to be prepared it is expected that there will be a large turnout.

Geologists Visit Famous Volcanoes

Exploring uninhabited sections of the Mojave desert was the novel experience of 14 members of the geology classes, who made the overnight trip Friday and Saturday with Horace A. Scott, science instructor.

Other than a few slight mishaps, the trip was an outstanding success. Minerals of many types were collected. Another group visited Mt. Pizgal, an old extinct volcano. Here various lava formations were carefully examined. The boys with their instructor, Horace A. Scott, climbed over the lava flows which extended several miles in each direction from the crater. After tedious effort their destination—the crater, was reached. A huge gaping caldera greeted the boys. A withered bush or weed occasionally was found growing in the soil which had collected on the lava but other than that, the whole expanse of lava was barren of life.

Fourteen boys with Scott composed the party. Friday night was spent on the open desert. Plenty of blankets kept the fellows from feeling the rigors of a desert night. This trip was the second of a series of interesting trips. A great deal of practical

Talented Artist To Attend Club's Party

"Spirit of Thanksgiving" has been chosen as the motif for the meeting of the Chroma club which is to be held at 6:30, November 22 in the model apartments. Elaborate plans are under way for an unusually enjoyable time.

Dinner is to be served by a committee headed by Miss Mary Louise Wallace. Table decorations carrying out the Thanksgiving motif, which are being planned by Miss Anna Gilles, faculty advisor of the club, promise to be very original and attractive.

The guest of honor at the meeting will be Miss Hazel Nell Bemus, well-known supervisor of art in the Santa Ana schools, who is teaching at the Julia C. Lathrop junior high school. Miss Bemus, who has had many unusual experiences teaching art in Hawaii during the summer, has promised to talk to the club. Those who have heard Miss Bemus speak know what a real treat is in store for those who attend the meeting.

Miss Goldie Peale, program chairman, and Miss Maybelle Ball have received letters from prominent art clubs and studios inviting the Chroma club to visit them. These letters will be presented to the club at the meeting in order that members may decide on a trip for the near future.

Tickets for the dinner may be obtained from Mary Louise Wallace or Corinne Nelson.

Journalists Meet Tomorrow Night

On Thursday, November 21, the Press club will hold a business meeting in the journalism class room of the Printing Trades Building at 7:30.

According to Doyle Stockton, anyone who is interested in news writing and other forms of literary work, is cordially invited to attend the meeting. All the members of the organization are urged to be present.

The plans for the club's party will be outlined and discussed. This affair will be held in December and promises to a "unique" entertainment.

Plans for a progressive party will be outlined and discussed. Up to the present time no definite arrangements have been made by the committees in charge. Charles Adams, prominent Press club member has donated his home at Balboa for the use of the members.

"A pedestrian," says one of the indignant motorists of junior college, "is this fellow who thinks a three year old battery will start an automobile on a snappy December morning."

PLANE AIR

By Herman Hoch

"Southern California will be the future aviation center of the nation."

Four leading universities of California, recognizing this as a certainty, are offering courses in aeronautics leading to a degree in aeronautics. The universities are: California, Southern California, Stanford and California School of Technology. Other institutions on the coast and in the nation are Washington university, Oregon Aggies, New York university, Michigan university and Massachusetts school of Technology.

Massachusetts Tech. is one of the oldest schools of aviation and rated the finest. It has been training aviation engineers for twelve years. The United States Government has begun sending cadets of the army and navy service for instruction in aeronautical engineering to the school.

Practically all the institutions are equipped with planes and engines for practical study. However, the general trend of the courses is towards the business end of the airplane industry. Realizing the magnitude of the industry, expert business organization will be one of the vital factors of success in its advancement. Courses in traffic management, business organization and airport maintenance are being given.

S. A. Jaycee Course
H. O. Russell, instructor in aviation in Santa Ana junior college, is a former air war pilot and a man of wide experience in the scientific study of airplanes. The course given by Russell is a special study of meteorology and air navigation. Both are excellent courses to meet the demand for this type of an expert. A thorough study of climatical conditions and of the atmosphere are made twice daily by the use of meteorological instruments which are located on top of the administration building.

The recent disaster of the T. A. T. commercial plane in Mount Taylor, shows the vital necessity of weather bureaus along the air lanes of the transcontinental air companies. A pilot must be informed as to what the climatical conditions exist on his trip between destinations. In clear weather he has no difficulties. If the weather is bad and he has a report as to the location of storms and adverse conditions, he can go around or above them. The T. A. T. system for example, has a bureau every fifty miles on their route. The safety of passengers relies a great deal on weather conditions.

Students prepared by training in meteorology can enter the services of one of these large corporations as an assistant in one of the bureaus.

Many of the junior colleges of the state are aware of the growing popularity, aviation as part of modern education. Thus, we find courses are being offered by them, in the various specialized lines of aeronautics.

French Club Enjoys Illustrated Lecture

L'Hotel Rambouillet French club was entertained last evening by an interesting illustrated lecture on Paris given by Miss Leilla Watson, advisor of the club.

Both slides and postcards were used by Miss Watson to show the club members many of the historical spots for which Paris is noted. These included palaces, art galleries, monuments, parles, bridges and boulevards. Of particular interest were the thirty-two bridges which cross the Seine river, and the many splendid examples of Gothic architecture that are to be found in Paris.

Miss Watson drew the material for her interesting lecture from her numerous trips to Paris, and the club feels grateful to her for their enjoyable evening.

The meeting was held in Mr. Scott's room in order to use the

O. K. Club Sponsors Assembly Program

Holding their regular monthly business meeting, members of the O. K. club met at the home of Miss Eunice Hanson, 306 Wright street, last Wednesday evening. Plans concerning the next party and the outline of the club's program which is to be given in assembly today were discussed.

It was decided that their social party would be held at the Capistrano Beach club house, providing it can be arranged to use the club house. According to Miss Hazel Guilbert, in charge of the social event, the members have agreed to pay a small assessment in order to defray the expenses of the affair and to cover a charge for the use of the club's swimming pool.

Don Hermes, Roy Glesner and Dennis Foyl were appointed to secure transportation for the club.

The subject of the assembly program was brought up and many clever and original ideas were discussed. Everyone agreed that the program should be composed of only O. K. talent if possible.

After many suggestions the club outlined a program which is expected to set a mark of excellence. The idea of getting a guard which represented the club to wear with the official junior college pins was approved and every member present signed for an emblem.

Helen Mayes, Doris Corvin and Jean Giller were appointed to find out the probable cost and patterns.

Beta Gamma Holds Function Tonight

Tonight at Ketner's cafe the Beta Gamma will hold their regular monthly meeting. Six thirty o'clock is the hour set for the dinner.

The most important business the club has to deal with will be the selection of new members. At their last meeting the Beta Gamma discussed prospective candidates for membership and made tentative choices. Delmer Brown, president of the club, said that an investigation of the students' scholarship is being made, and tonight the results will be presented. He further stated that the number of new members selected by the club, would be twelve. Next semester seven or eight more students will be chosen.

In order to fulfill the requirements made by the honor society the student must not only be prominent in school activities, but must also possess a high scholastic record.

Following the business meeting a special program will be given.

The six members of the Beta Gamma society are Delmer Brown, president; Dorothy Harman, secretary-treasurer; Wylie Carlyle, Lavinia Compton, Felix Garney and Fred Humiston.

OVER THE EDITOR'S DESK

THE CENTRAL JAYCEE

Plans for a Southern Orange county junior college to cost $1,385,000 were unanimously approved by more than 80 representatives from seven high school districts at a meeting held last Thursday night.

It looks like the proposition is finally getting under way. Orange county educators have been wrangling over the question for nearly three years but now they have begun to act.

BUSES

It is interesting that included in the estimated cost of the college is $20,000 per year for transportation. Although it will be an entirely new experience, students won't object to free transportation. It would mean a great saving for those living far from the college.

THE CURRICULUM

Many improvements are being incorporated in the new curriculum which will make it far superior to the present one. Journalism and aviation subjects which are rapidly gaining in world-wide importance—are inadequate here. Both are excellent in what they cover yet they are merely one-year beginning courses. The journalism course is especially inadequate because it is practically all repetition of high school journalism and offers nothing advanced for the student who has had former experience.

THOSE EXAMS

Well, now that we have finished

ed flunking our exams we can take it a bit easier. Somebody some time or other made the statement that the time will soon be at hand when schools will cease to give exams and that the time will come when there won't be any grades. The sooner it comes the better I will like it.

At present teachers use up a lot of energy staying awake nights to think up examination questions which students can't answer and the students stay up nights studying questions which the teachers never ask. Funny we can't get together on that isn't it?

A SALARY? HOW COME?

The other day a student told me that the college which she attended last year paid the editor of its paper $600 per year and the business manager, $500. Many schools take a kick at the editor and business manager now and then just on general principles and pay them nothing. If they are real nice, they can have a paper free every week.

WANT BIGGER PADDLES

Sock and another pledge was felled.

Prospects for baseball and golf teams look pretty bright this year at least among Bachelor club members. The total membership has enough talent at wielding a four-foot paddle to please the heart of any baseball fan. The trouble is the paddles don't hold up.

an estimated daily attendance of 450 the first year, the estimated maintenance cost would be $125,000.

TRANSPORTATION—Lines of transportation for those outside walking distance would probably cost $20,000 the first year. This is based on known costs of $5 per student per month at other places.

EVALUATIONS AND TAX RATES—With Fullerton and Brea-Olinda eliminated, a union district could be formed with a valuation of $122,331,480. Pre-junior colleges are: Santa Ana, 22 cents; Fullerton, 16 cents; outside district, four cents. To build during a two-year period according to above estimates and provide for costs of instruction and transportation would mean the expenditure of approximately $1,385,000. A 55-cent rate for two years would be sufficient to provide the sum. It was pointed out that bond issue to cover the costs would result in paying as much in interest as the ground and buildings would cost and that building from a direct tax levy would be far more economical. The tax rate after the building program was completed was estimated at 12 cents per year.

A most comprehensive curriculum was suggested in the report of the committee. The subjects to be included in the courses offered by the new junior college are recommended by the committee follow:

Academic Subjects—English and literature, public speaking, foreign language—Spanish, French, German, Latin.

Social Sciences—Economics, political science, history of the southwest (U.S.), European history since 1500, English history.

Mathematics—Trigonometry, co-ordinate geometry, solid geometry, differential calculus, integral calculus, theory of investment.

Science—Chemistry, botany, biology, bacteriology, geology, astronomy, physics.

Philosophy—Logic, psychology, ethics.

Physical Training

Vocational Subjects—Agriculture, civil engineering, economic entomology, co-operative marketing, horticulture, pomology, soil chemistry, animal husbandry.

Commerce—Typing, shorthand, office practice, salesmanship, bookkeeping, and bookbinding, advertising, law (commercial) organization.

Drawing—Mechanical drawing, free-hand drawing, history and appreciation of art, design and color.

Mechanics—Machine shop, wood shop, auto repair, aviation, radio.

Music—Harmony, theory, organ, piano, voice, band, orchestra.

Home Economics—Food, sewing and textiles, interior decoration, weaving.

R. I. P.

One of the most disgusting things that a student has to face in life is looking the alarm clock square in the face after it has had its sayso at seven o'clock in the morning. Have you noticed how it sings at you—like a rattlesnake—a sort of a sneering laugh, like up a giraffe's sleeve, you might say. Those hands cause a lot of untold grief in this world the way they travel through eternal space and drag off eight hours of night into dawn before forty winks of sleeping malady are digested by the average collegiate.

The writer recently wrote a letter to the Tinkerfault firm, stating that their contraption was getting a lot of verbal abuse from the sleeping fraternity in J. C. ranks. Insinuations were also implied that the vehicle of time was invented too many years before the logical period of necessity.

They snappily retort that they were positively correct in adjusting a bell with the clock as this was in keeping with the bell system used by the institutions of learning on the Pacific coast. The ringing, they claimed, kept the student in the "pink", for promptness to all classes. However, I retorted by saying that the monotony was discouraging, soldier-like precision among the army of spectators who attended the various classes under the assumed name of students, fail to be enthused over the proposition of commanding bells.

I couldn't corner them on that side of the question so I condemned their product on the value merit. You know 98 cents is a huge investment and to receive only two years value from it is quite a depreciation. That figures out to be near four or five cents in whole numbers, equal to gum money.

Feeling that I am fighting for a justifiable cause, I believe that the support of an army of sleeping aspirants are with the campaign 100 percent. Their refusal to bid to the commands of that mock, sleep-defying ring means the alarm clock is doomed. May the pillows support our heads for ever and ever.

HI-BOYS

Woebegone expressions are much in evidence around the campus these days and the mid-term exams have nothing whatever to do with them. It's all the "Longfellow's" fault. I was talking to a very disappointed looking student this morning.

"Why the gloom?" I asked.

"Aw heck, I'm half an inch too short."

"Too short for what?"

"To join the Longfellow's, of course. What did you think I was talking about?"

"Oh, I don't know. That's hard to say. I'll give you a tip. Why don't you go down town to a chiropractor and have him stretch you? You'll easily stretch a half inch."

"Honest, do you think so?" the student brightened up and started off across the campus.

Ten minutes later I met another sad specimen of manhood.

"I suppose you're too short to join the Longfellow's too?" I kidded him. He nodded glumly, "Yeah."

"How much?"

"Two inches."

"Well, I'm afraid you won't stretch that much."

Leaving a much puzzled frown looking after me I started for the Don office to tell "Sky" Dunlap how much he had popularized gentlemen's six feet or more.

EXAMS

How come you can never find a seat in the library these days? You just naturally have to stand in the waiting line for a couple of hours. The library sure must feel stuck up over its sudden popularity.

How come you see everybody carrying a pile of books under his arm? One could make a lot of money renting wagons to some of the ambitious students. Does this happen to be the latest style, or what?

How come when you want to talk to somebody, they just stick their nose farther in the book they are reading. Is everybody getting stuck up or something?

How come the teachers look sort of stern and—well, you know how? How come they say, "A little studying would help you quite a lot."

The answer to all this dumbness is: How come, huh?

NOTED STUDENT SKETCH

BAXTER GEETING

For it is none other than the Sir Baxter Geeting, quoth the scribe; and then the commissioner of forensics and sophomore class president beat a hasty retreat out of the office.

Our discourse today deals with Sir Geeting, football player, debater and romanticist. He hailed from San Diego high school and state college before entering the portals of the local school a year ago. At San Diego, he was president of the student body, president of the freshman and sophomore classes, a member for two years of the football and wrestling teams and a prominent member of the Speakers club. When he entered Santa Ana State, he was elected president of the freshman class and played freshman football.

Since entering the junior college in Santa Ana, Geeting has distinguished himself in many lines. He was appointed Don for the annual fiesta, ran Robert Chapman a close race for student body president, was elected sophomore class president, is commissioner of forensics and an accomplished debater. Organizing the forensic club several weeks ago was only one of his many deeds. Coach Bill Cook uses him regularly as halfback on the strong Don football squad.

His linguistic abilities will take him into the study of law and Stanford will be his alma mater after departing from the halls of Santa Ana in June. Other things he—well, why worry, the space is all filled up.

LAFF THIS OFF

Hollie: "What would you say if I asked you to marry me?"

Eve: "Nothing; I can't talk and laugh at the same time."

"Buddie, how did you get that black eye?"

"I was protecting a little boy."

"That's noble; who was he?"

"Me."

De Laughter: "How did you like Venice?"

Bienert: "I only stayed a few days. The place was flooded."

Sunday school teacher: "Can you tell me something about the Israelites?"

Small boy: "I don't know anything about them. We have electric lights at home."

Smith: "A man is safe if he's on the straight and narrow path."

Jones: "He is if it's too narrow for automobiles."

Practice makes perfect

Tommie: "Grandma, if I was invited out to dinner some place should I eat pie with a fork?"

Grandma: "Yes, indeed, Tommie."

Tommie: "You haven't got a pie around the house that I could practice on, have you, grandma?"

Waiter: "Pardon me, sir, but the money you gave me to pay your check did not include anything for the waiter."

Diner: "Well, I didn't eat one, did I?"

ON WITH THE SHOW

A. Fann speaking, students, and he recommends that you see the following pictures if you are planning on stepping with the girl friend to a show.

Cecil B. DeMille's first talking production, "Dynamite" is one of the most spectacular and brilliant pictures ever filmed. An excerpt from a recent review will give you an idea of the plot. "Scintillating society panoramas are blended into an enthralling dramatic situation in which a coal miner and his rival for the hand of a society girl face death together, a thousand feet below the earth."

The work of Conrad Nagel as the young society gadabout, Kay Johnson as the girl of high social position, and Charles Bickford as Hagor Derk, the miner, play their roles exceptionally well. Cecil B. DeMille has long been known as a super-director. It's here! The picture you have been waiting for. After a long run at Los Angeles theaters, Marianne, starring Marion Davies, will be presented at the Fox Broadway theater starting Monday, November 18, and playing four days.

The picture uses the world war as the theme, but the director has given the plot an entirely new twist. Marianne is a French girl, and a regiment of A. E. F. are billeted in the town where she lives. She falls in love with a doughboy, played by Lawrence Gray, but when her former soldier sweetheart, blinded, returns, she gives up the doughboy in order to remain with the blind man. He, sensing that she is in love with the buck private, enters the priesthood so that Marianne is free to go with the man she loves.

Many catchy song hits, including "Marianne" the theme song, enliven the production.

EXCHANGES

Every student enrolled in the Territorial Normal School, Honolulu, contributed to the United Welfare drive. A total of $29.57 was collected from 292 students.

Budding authors of Crane college, located at Chicago, are busy writing short stories to enter in the short story contest held under the auspices of the school paper. Prizes, including medals and valuable special awards, are to be given the winners.

Abbie E. Duvinet, noted French author who wrote "The Art of Thinking", recently completed a series of four lectures which were delivered at the University of California at Los Angeles. The lectures were open to the public as well as the students. The group of lectures was sponsored by the French department under the chairmanship of Dr. H. R. Bush.

"A sleek hero, a beautiful heroine, and seven villains" are but a few of the attractions being anticipated by students of the Pasadena junior college, in the Bauble and Bells play, "Seven Keys to Baldpate" which is to be presented in the college auditorium, November 22. It is to be an all-student production, the scenery being constructed by the students in the wood-shop classes. Seven keys were hidden "here and there" about the campus. Anyone locating one of these keys gets a free ticket to the production.

NEW CLUB

Matching pennies for office is something new in elections. But the "Russians" are different in every way. Modeled from the Boy Scouts in their first pledge, "Do a good turn every day." All of the members are football stars and each is prominent in Santa Ana junior college affairs.

Four "Russians" voted for president at the first general election. When the ballots were counted each member had received one vote. Every man had voted for himself. Matching pennies was the only solution. The first Victor was Jack Dutton, so Jack is czar. The other officers are as follows: czariski, Carol Bertollet; keeper of the bull, Kench Tanaka; Keeper of the Vodka, Nevin Hoy. Every member is an officer.

A temporary constitution for the Russian club has been formed but has not been formally adopted. Each Tuesday has been set for meetings (brawls). The club emblem has not yet been decided upon.

Following the old Russian custom of dancing and making merry, an Imperial Russian ball is being planned by the fraternal order. Czar Dutton is quoted as stating that the Keeper of the Vodka is one of the most prominent members of the social committee.

Various popular students are being investigated as possible candidates for pledgeship. Czar Dutton, chairman of the pledge committee, is considering the purchase of Cosack pajamas which the pledges will wear in place of customary pledge pins.

In the near future a meeting will be held to ratify the constitution, and make definite plans regarding the public work of the club.

NICE KITTY

Of all fool expressions That man has penned or sung The very worst is this, 'Has Kitty got our tongue?'

How many times as children We've suffered from that taunt, Folks seem to think that silly phrase Is just what kiddies want.

"Hello girly, what's your name?" Oh how that always stung! And when I was too proud to tell, 'I'll bet the Kitty's got her tongue.'

And now when I meet children Who do not wish to chat, You may be sure of one thing, I don't blame it on the cat.

Poor Frances Larrabee. Even after all those exams she's still wondering
